

Marriott, Renaissance Cut Weekend Rates; $59 to $79 Per Night Available for Limited Time at More Than 200 Hotels

WASHINGTON, June 21 -- Marriott International, Inc. (NYSE: MAR - news) announced today that for a limited time, weekend rates have been reduced up to 50 percent at participating Marriott and Renaissance hotels, resorts and suites in the United States, the Caribbean and Mexico. Effective immediately, travelers can take advantage of "Come Out and Play" rates for weekend stays from June 28 to Sept. 2, 2001.

Rates ranging from $59 to $79 per night are available at more than 200 Marriott and Renaissance hotels. In addition, 58 select resorts and premier city hotels are offering rates of $85 to $129 per night. Weekend rates are available Thursday through Sunday nights, and resort rates are offered seven days a week. To qualify for the special Marriott and Renaissance rates, advance reservations must be made by July 12.* Travelers should ask for the "Come Out and Play" rate and are encouraged to book early by calling 800-847-4744, visiting <http://www.marriott.com>, or calling their travel agent.

"These are some of the best rates travelers will find all summer," said John Marriott, executive vice president of sales and marketing, Marriott International. "Marriott and Renaissance are upscale hotel brands that provide everything necessary for the ideal weekend escape. With such an exceptional value, we expect these rooms to sell quickly."
